

SUMMARY

David Caditz studied Argentine Tango at Stanford University from 1997-1999 and continued his studies in Buenos Aires, Argentina through 2007. David is a graduate of Congreso Internacional de Tango Argentino and Seminario Especial de Tango Argentino. In 2000, David Formed TangoMontana Dance School, and many of his students have become well-known dancers and teachers. David relocated to San Francisco Bay Area in 2006, where he continues to teach and perform.

David has performed as principle dancer in numerous productions including a role as featured dancer and choreographer for the Montana State University Repertory Dance Production Company in 2009. David has performed and choreographed for numerous events throughout the San Francisco Bay Area. David is also the author of the tango instructional book Changing Directions and the research article Social Technology and the Allure of Tango in the 21st Century.

David holds a Ph.D. in Physics from Stanford University and Bachelors of Science in Physics from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

DANCE EXPERIENCE

Instruction

Founder/Lead instruction for TangoMontana School of Dance.

Taught classes and workshops in tango and ballroom dance throughout the Western United States including California, Montana, Washington & Colorado

Invited Instructor/Performer, Montana State University Department of Dance

Invited Instructor/Performer, Carroll College Dance, Helena Montana

Performance

Performed by invitation in numerous venues throughout the Northwest including Bozeman, Helena and Billings, MT, and Aspen, CO

Performed/Choreographed for Montana State University Repertory Dance Production Company

Performed/Choreographed for Artisan Dance Company, Helena Montana

Performed in various venues in the San Francisco Bay area including numerous invited appearances in 'Tango in the Square' in Union Square, San Francisco, CA.

DANCE RESEARCH & PUBLICATIONS

"Changing Directions - A Concise Guide to the Topology of Tango", 2010

"Social Technology and the Allure of Tango in the 21st Century", 2011

MOVIE CREDITS

Appearance in "The Hi-Line", 1999, by Rod Judkins

DANCE EDUCATION

Stanford University, Tango (1997 – 1999) Stanford, California

Graduate of Congreso Internacional de Tango Argentino (1999 – 2003) Buenos Aires, Argentina

Graduate of Seminario Especial de Tango Argentino (2005 - 2007)

Buenos Aires, Argentina